Creativity, passion and innovation. These are the drivers of design and what serves to shape the future. Investigating design problems with an a priori approach enables new solutions to present themselves. Passion ignites the desire for innovation and distinction while constantly morphing into something new. Expanding ideas and concepts beyond a predictable outcome will invigorate the solution and load the project with potential to change, evolve and reinvent itself as the design process continues. A prototypical perspective applied to past experience lends to unique solutions and unanticipated results.
